

Building New Communities

A First Housing Estate at Greater Southern Waterfront

The former Keppel Club golf course will be redeveloped to provide about 9,000 homes, with approximately 6,000 HDB flats. Being close to the coast and the hill parks, the site will offer unique waterfront living to kickstart the transformation of the Greater Southern Waterfront. About 20% of the site will also be set aside for parks and green spaces, to safeguard ecological connectivity for fauna to nearby habitats, and bring residents closer to nature.

To meet strong demand for housing, HDB has been progressively introducing more public housing in Bukit Merah to enable young families to live closer to their parents, while also bringing new life into this estate.

New Housing

New Housing Developments with Facilities

In 2022, HDB launched three new public housing sites which included new homes, social and communal facilities, commercial amenities, and parks with recreational facilities within these new developments. In addition, an upcoming public housing development at Alexandra Road will be launched soon, where residents can enjoy recreational activities right at their doorstep, amid a picturesque waterfront living experience.
