Bedok Beacon

Project Overview

Bedok Beacon demonstrates an interesting way to integrate social amenities and public housing using a combination of form and massing, and creative use of materials.

Marking a distinctive entry point into Bedok Town Centre, the eye-catching low-rise social amenities component is clad in a brick-like facade, giving the development an inviting human-scale that relates to pedestrians at the ground level. It contrasts harmoniously with the taller public housing blocks in the background which are painted in more soothing and subtle colours. Landscaped spaces at various levels provide residents with respite from the buzzing activity around.
